

Australian success at the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic games

The four companies marked with an asterix won deals for the Beijing 2008 Olympic Games and have gone on to win business in London for the 2012 Games:

Westfield	Developers of the Stratford City project. This is a major retail and community development immediately adjacent to the Olympic Park. A key part of the Olympic legacy for the area and linked to developments such as the Olympic Village
Lend Lease *	Main contractors for the Olympic Village
HOK Sport Architecture *	Architects in the Team McAlpine Consortium, responsible for constructing the main stadium. Also contracted to advise on the overall Games Masterplan
Sinclair Knight Merz	Engineering consultancy, part of a multi-disciplinary design team for the 12,000 capacity Basketball Arena
Intelligent Risks	Security consultancy advising LOCOG security team
Exsport Management	Advising LOCOG on the development of the volunteer workforce
PTW Architects *	Appointed to the design team for the Handball Arena
Bligh Voller Nield *	Architects involved in the design of the Olympic Village
Cleanevent	Event cleaning services – contracted to Wembley stadium, an Olympic venue
Denton Corker Marshall	Appointed to the panel of architects for the Olympic Village