

Why LATAM

FREE TRADE AGREEMENTS and other economic treaties

Australian Government

Australian Trade and Investment Commission

Countries in Latin America (LATAM) have a number of Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) with Australia. These economic agreements provide exporters with preferential market access, improved mobility for business travel and enhanced protections for investors. Australia is actively working with LATAM to reduce non-tariff barriers (NTBs) and improve market access for Australian exporters.

Market opportunities

- Agricultural goods: beef, sheep meat, pork, dairy, cereals, wine, horticulture, niche agricultural products, livestock, genetic material
- Manufactured goods: machinery, electrical appliances, automotive parts
- Services: education, financial, environmental, professional, engineering, tourism, mining, research and development

References: DFAT Free Trade Agreement Portal

LATAM: Diversify your growth

Learn how at: www.austrade.gov.au/latam